

ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS (YANGON)

ကိရိတ္တဝါရုံ (ရန်ကုန်)

Zoological Gardens (Yangon), in its 100 years over of existence, has always been an attractive place in the city of Yangon

Covering an area of nearly 57.7 acres and lying adjacent to the Great Shwedagon Pagoda, The Zoo, with its old-fashioned animal houses and big shady trees, draws nearly 1.4 million visitors every year. The Zoo's animal collection includes not only elephants, rhinos, hippos, giraffes, tigers, lions etc., but also some rare and endangered species such as eld's deer, red panda, black-necked stork etc. The botanical collection of the Zoo is represented by over 200 tree species, including Teak (Tectona grandis), Thawka -gyi (Amherstia nobilis), Meze (Madhuca lingifolia), Lin-Lun (Sapium baccatum) and Golden Champa (Michelia champaca). Like most zoos all over the world, the aims and objectives of the zoo are recreation and education for the general public, conservation for some endangered species of native animals.
